Two weeks ago to-day we made the first announcement of our

Removal Sale of Pianos

HUNDREDS have visited our warerooms and become convinced of the accuracy of our statements, and scores have bought pianos at unexpectedly low prices and upon their own terms. We know that the public attention is often called through the advertising columns to these special removal sales, but we point with pride to our 60 Years' Record in the piano and music business of St. Louis as an evidence of our reliability and the dependence you can place upon our statements. This is the first sale of this kind that this house has ever held, and but for the most extraordinary reasons we should never have held it.

Our business had grown to such proportions that we were obliged to seek a larger building. Our new agencies which we have taken on and our future policies and aims require not only larger but more ornate warerooms and parlors than could be found in any building now erected in St. Louis. Consequently we started in the spring the erection of our own new and beautiful building at 1004 Olive street, which was to be ready in September. Unavoidable building delays have prevented its completion and we will not get into same for several weeks to come. We had on hand a large stock of new and secondhand Pianos, discontinued agencies, etc., for which there is no room in our new building because of the tremendous orders placed for new goods. These orders were placed early in the summer for September, October, November and December shipments in anticipation that our building would be ready for us six weeks ago. Now these goods are arriving at the rate of four or five carloads of Pianos a week, and something must be done. We cannot leave them at the depot br in the cars for fear of damage and expense. We cannot move them several times and store them for the same reasons, and we are consequently obliged to crowd them into our already crowded present quarters, and are going to offer them and all our former stock of new and secondhand Pianos, while they last, at

When the gamble ended and the bumper crop brought the price of cotton below the normal, the mills quickly restarted. The ball which he deposited at that time, amounting to $16.000 has naturally been confiscated.

This case caused no little sensation at confiscated.

This case caused no little sensation at the time, the dispute arising through Baron Thuengen forbidding Mr. Stern's son to dance in the Kurhaus dancing saloon, where only persons above 15 years of age are allowed to dance.

At the time no stone was left unturned to bring about a change of the sentence from imprisonment to a fine only, the American Ambassador intervening, but in vain. With ball and other costs, the whole affair has left Mr. Stern a poorer man by $25,999.

RETURN OF KING AND QUEEN

TO ENLIVEN LONDON SOCIETY. SPECIAL BY CABLE
London, Oct. 14—(Copyright, 1981)— Though London is filling up very fact for the autumn sesson, nothing socially of great importance has happened yet. The autumn sesson of operat at Covent Garden is very much appreciated, the house being crowded every night.

This week haw been a week of queddings, several well known in society being united every day, but there are few people of much importance in town yet.

Next week will see a change, however, when the King and Queen return to Buckingham Palace for the purpose of opening the King's way, and when the members of the French Municipal Council come over on a week's visit.

Washington, Oct. 14.—John F. Hough of Luckett, Loudon County, Va., eloped to this city with Miss Fredda Ayres of the same village. Miss Ayres lives with her grandfather, and when he discovered that the girl had flown he did not get excited, but simply telephoned to Washington, and there was a policeman at the train when the elopers stepped off. The girl will be sent both to her grantfather.
